Nana Star Books and Dolls - A Review

Posted by Tiffany at 6:00 am in Book Reviews, Children.

My 4 year old daughter Paige is thrilled with a new addition to her library...the Nana Star books. Even better, these books come with dolls. What more could a little girl ask for?

I think these books are bound to be classics. They are so much fun and so enjoyable to read, especially when you have the accompanying dolls that make an appearance quite often throughout the books. They get a BIG thumbs up from mom too. The books are beautifully illustrated, very high quality, the story is wonderful, and the dolls are made of cloth.

The first story follows the adventures of a little girl who loves to frolic outdoors, listening to nature, and sleep in a meadow of flowers. It is after one such nap when she awakes to hear a soft call for help. After searching the little girl finds a lost baby star who has fallen from the heavens. The baby star calls the little girl Nana Star and she vows to help take him home where he belongs.

In the second book Nana Star and the baby star are journeying to figure out how to return baby star to his home. Nana Star starts to feel scared and alone when, with help from a new friend, she learns that she is never alone. The Moonman is always watching over and guiding her, even when she can't see him.

The stories are really about building character and helping others and valuable for all children I think. Each book also comes with a story time and sing-along CD. My daughter is absolutely enthralled with the story and though he won't admit it...my 7 year old son rather likes it to. 😊

Along with the book you can get a posable Nana Star doll and she comes with a baby star to take care of. The Moonman lovey glows when kids cuddle him and plays a sleepy "lullaby" when they hug his tummy! He's a comforting presence as they drift off to dreamland.

The whole set has one several awards and we can't wait for more books to be released. If you have a little girl this set would make a great gift!
