

Nana Star and the Moonman (giveaway)

My daughters have two new friends - their names are Nana Star and the Moonman. They are the main characters in an award-winning series of children's books that we recently had the chance to review.

Nana Star

Written by sisters Elizabeth Sills and Elena Patrice and illustrated by their mom, Linda Saker, Nana Star tells the tale of a little girl that goes on a magical adventure to bring a lost baby star home. The story is simple enough that my 4-year old could summarize it after the first time we read it together, but powerful at the same time, encouraging compassion and generosity in such a beautiful manner.

Nana Star and the Moonman is the second inspiring story in the series. It starts where the first story left off, with Nana Star beginning her journey to help baby star find his way home. Before she knows it, night falls and the world has gone to bed without her. She feels scared and alone in the dark, but with the help of her new friend the Moonman, she learns that she is never alone. He is always watching over and guiding her along, even if she can't see him.

The books are well-made and the illustrations are beautiful, yet accessible to kids. What I mean by that is that the artwork is obviously done by hand and could inspire little girls (and boys!) do draw their own versions of Nana Star and the Moonman. To foster their reading skills, each Nana Star storybook includes a mistake in the text for young readers to find. When children send Nana Star a note correcting the mistake, they become special members of her Little Twinkles Club. Each member receives an autographed photo of the real Nana Star with a personalized message, as well as a certificate of membership.

The Nana Star series of children's books has won various awards, and I can see why. This is such a well-rounded product line! I love the seamless integration of book, plush, CD, and companion website.

The Nana Star doll is poseable and soft, and even comes with little extras that tie in with the story. Marsy was captivated by her blue dress, which she always associates with being a princess. The Moonman plush isn't just a lovey, he's a nightlight, glowing when you squeeze him. He plays a lullaby when hugged, and has such a comforting quality about him. Just looking at his sweet face makes you feel calm!

Included with every book is a companion CD. I loaded both CDs on to my iPod so Marsy can read along with the books whenever the mood strikes. The story is short enough that it keeps her attention, yet still gives me a few minutes of quiet time because she usually likes to hear it more than once. The only thing I'd change would be to maybe add some kind of chime or page-turning sound so that she knows when she should turn to the next page. She'll be reading before I know it, though, with the help of Nana Star! The CDs also include the Nana Star and Moonman themes, respectively, which are sweet, shorter versions of the stories told in the books.

On the Nana Star website you can find videos, song lyrics, and meet all of Nana Star's friends. In an effort to be fully available to children of all needs, Nana Star stories and songs are interpreted in sign language as well. Parents and educators can download and print coloring pages and learning lessons from the website, which I found particularly helpful since we're homeschooling at the moment.

Nana Star and the Moonman really came to us at the perfect time. Marsy's been increasingly scared of the dark over the past few weeks. The messages contained in the books, particularly the second one in the series, have been very effective. She's slept with the Moonman by her side for several nights now, and hasn't woken up crying in the middle of the night as she was so frequently doing before. MJ instantly fell in love with the Moonman the moment she saw him, so much so that I was almost tempted to buy a second one for her. We've managed to develop a system where she plays with the Moonman throughout the day and he goes to bed with Marsy at night, so it's all working out nicely.

I noticed that Nana Star lives right here in Northern Virginia, so we may just get a chance to meet her and the Moonman in real life one of these days! I'm also looking forward to adding to our collection when Nana Star and the Blue Wolf is released in the Spring. It always feels good to buy a product that is unique and inherently valuable, but also gives back, and Nana Star does this and more - a portion of all book and merchandise sales go directly to the Nana Star Foundation, which is dedicated to raising funds for terminally ill children and raising awareness of the crippling problems facing children that attend under-resourced, inner-city schools. Nana Star books are distributed to hospitals and inner-city schools throughout the United States, and I'm sure they've brought smiles to the faces of many a child!

The Nana Star line is recommended for ages 3-7, and I completely agree with that suggestion. Although my toddler loves the Moonman, she can't activate the light and music features without my help. The music could also be a bit loud for babies' little ears. The Nana Star doll includes small elements that could be ingested by children under 3. MJ does enjoy listening to the stories, though I'm sure she doesn't understand the concepts just yet. The entire Nana Star line of products can be purchased from NanaStar.com and the books can also be found on Amazon.

February is Laugh-Friendly month, and to celebrate, you get a 10% discount on any Nana Star and Friends purchase! Just enter code LF2009 at checkout.

One lucky reader is going to win this entire set, including the Nana Star doll, Moonman lovey, and both books. To enter, please visit Nana Star and leave a comment on this post telling me what you like most about the product line.

158 Comments

1. jenny on January 28th, 2009 1:20 am

I love that the doll is really great for playtime, storytime or bedtime! I am so glad that someone finally invented a doll to do all that! Thanks for the giveaway!

jenny's last blog post..Where have I been, you say? #

2. lisa on January 28th, 2009 1:36 am

I like the moon man lovie!

3. AmandaK on January 28th, 2009 1:39 am

I love that the doll comes with a little star for the kids to take care of. It is truly precious!

orchestratenoise0726[at]yahoo[dot]com

AmandaK's last blog post..Confetti Dreams Reviews #

4. AmandaK on January 28th, 2009 1:39 am

I am a subscriber!

orchestratenoise0726[at]yahoo[dot]com

5. Geri Nyland on January 28th, 2009 1:49 am

What I love most about this product line is that the books make a child feel special which they are. They seem personal, but really are not, but makes a child feel like they are just for them... I hope I'm saying this right...I know what I mean, but maybe it's not coming out right... or maybe you do know what I mean... Great giveaway :o)

6. Mo (Un-Mainstream Mom Reads) on January 28th, 2009 3:24 am

I like that the books promote traditional virtues like generosity, compassion & kindness. Always a good lesson for kiddos. My youngest daughter would love these so much! Thanks for the giveaway.

7. Carol on January 28th, 2009 5:51 am

My favorite quality of the Nana Star line is the wholesomeness of the toys and books. I like to surround my kids with innocent toys, not adult-like electronic gadgets and Barbies.

8. Maureen on January 28th, 2009 9:20 am

I like that the dolls are soft and cuddly so important to little preschoolers. Thanks so much for introducing me to this lovely line of stories and dolls.

Rene

itsjustmerene2003atyahoodotcom

9. Kathleen on January 28th, 2009 9:32 am

I love the concept of these, that they help children not fear the dark. And also the way that they came about, from a grandmother's story, rather than some Marketing and PR people sitting around a boardroom brainstorming ideas.

Kathleen's last blog post..Wordful Wednesday: Snow Day #

10. Kathleen on January 28th, 2009 9:33 am

I have your button on my blog.

Kathleen's last blog post..Wordful Wednesday: Snow Day #

11. Kathleen on January 28th, 2009 9:34 am

I subscribed in Google Reader

Kathleen's last blog post..Wordful Wednesday: Snow Day #

12. Kathleen on January 28th, 2009 9:36 am

I Twittered this under

<http://twitter.com/katydidandkid>

and I'm following you

Kathleen's last blog post..Wordful Wednesday: Snow Day #

13. Carrie on January 28th, 2009 10:05 am

I love that they have dolls that go along with the stories. How great!

Carrie's last blog post..We're now calling this the month of doom #

14. Jill on January 28th, 2009 10:05 am

I love the way that children can sleep with the babies! I also love the foundation and what it stands for!!

15. ellen cunningham on January 28th, 2009 10:15 am

I like that they offer lessons on friendship. Thanks for the chance.

16. ellen cunningham on January 28th, 2009 10:17 am

I am a subscriber.

17. Heather on January 28th, 2009 10:54 am

I love that the stories come with beautiful dolls, the Nana Star Posable Doll looks like something a little child would really treasure.

18. Marcia on January 28th, 2009 10:58 am

I love books with matching dolls. It encourages my daughter to use her imagination to make up her own stories when we aren't reading the books.

Marcia's last blog post..Countdown to Midnight #

19. Kim on January 28th, 2009 11:08 am

I love the message behind the books!!

20. Kim on January 28th, 2009 11:09 am

I follow on twitter and tweeted (kgail11)

21. Kim on January 28th, 2009 11:09 am

I subscribe

22. Jennifer Barr on January 28th, 2009 11:36 am i like how they look simple yet fun

23. Lisa C. on January 28th, 2009 2:25 pm

I love that the stories encourages children to read, they sound like great books!

24. Lisa C. on January 28th, 2009 2:25 pm

I'm a subscriber.

25. Reeva on January 28th, 2009 2:51 pm

i love the overall message and i like that kids would really enjoy the light and comfort of the doll.

26. beth shepherd on January 28th, 2009 3:37 pm

Thank you for having this!

I would love to win. I like that they have a great message a great foundation.

Thank you

tatertot374@sbcglobal.net

27. Lauralee Hensley on January 28th, 2009 3:58 pm

I really, really, really like how little readers can receive an autographed photo of the real Nana Star with a personalized message and a certificate of membership. If they find the mistake in the text of the book and send a note to Nana Star correcting the mistake, then they get all of these extra special, wonderful cudoo's or pat's on the back, as my mom would say.

28. Beth on January 28th, 2009 4:37 pm

I love that the books and characters together make the story really come to life for kids. My little ones would LOVE this!

Beth's last blog post..My first video attempt - Miss Hailey chattin' with mom #

29. cristina on January 28th, 2009 4:59 pm

It encourages compassion. Something that isn't taught as readily. I believe in teaching kids in being self-reliant and strong, yet still having compassion for others.

30. Angie on January 28th, 2009 5:12 pm

I love that the books are written by sisters and illustrated by their mom! What a great family venture..and who knows more about kids than moms! Great little set!

sandalsndaisies(at)yahoo(dot)com

Angie's last blog post..Dear Mr. Salad #

31. Tyna Begley on January 28th, 2009 6:29 pm

I love that the books have a mistake for the kids to catch, then they become part of the club!

Tyna Begley's last blog post..Comparing Baby Pictures #

32. Paula H on January 28th, 2009 6:59 pm

I love the Magic of the stories. It would get kids imaginations going.

33. Cathy W. on January 28th, 2009 10:13 pm

I love all the awards and endorsements, i.e., Two iParenting 2008 Outstanding Product Awards. It makes me feel very comfortable buying products with amazing awards. Thanks for the awesome giveaway.

34. Cathy W. on January 28th, 2009 10:15 pm

I subscribe to your feed.

cathyandharold[at]gmail[dot]com

35. Amanda on January 29th, 2009 12:02 am love how the books come with a cd

36. Cindi on January 29th, 2009 12:37 am

The story that began these wonderful characters are what I really like about them!

Mrs. Owens would tell her Grandson Vance as they looked at the window at night, that the Moonman would always be there for him. Talk about making the night time more pleasant. Then, after Vance moved away, she continued to make and send him cards. Now, her daughter and two granddaughters have created the Nana Star books and characters! Great giveaway contest! Many thanks, Cindi

37. Cindi on January 29th, 2009 12:37 am

I am a subscriber to your site. Thanks, Cindi

38. gahome2mom on January 29th, 2009 12:56 am

I like that the dolls/toys are not too mature for the children. (Like Barbie and Bratz) Thanks.

gahome2mom's last blog post..Georgia Peachy Keen - Etsy Shop #

39. Janet F on January 29th, 2009 12:58 am

I like that it is a story of a little girl looking for a lost star to bring it back home, very nice.

Thank you!

janetfaye (at) gmail (dot) com

Janet F's last blog post..Good For The Kids Giveaway #

40. Janet Fricano on January 29th, 2009 12:59 am

I subscribed.

janetfaye (at) gmail (dot) com

Janet Fricano's last blog post..Good For The Kids Giveaway #

41. Janet Fricano on January 29th, 2009 1:01 am

Button on sidebar:

<http://luckygiveaways.blogspot.com/>

janetfaye (at) gmail (dot) com

Janet Fricano's last blog post..Good For The Kids Giveaway #

42. Janet Fricano on January 29th, 2009 1:04 am

Blogged here:

<http://luckygiveaways.blogspot.com/2009/01/nana-star-and-moonman-giveaway.html>

janetfaye (at) gmail (dot) com

Janet Fricano's last blog post..Good For The Kids Giveaway #

43. DEBJOT on January 29th, 2009 2:32 am

I like that children will get interested in reading from these products. I love the Moonman. My grandson is just enchanted by the moon. This would be perfect for him.

44. DEBJOT on January 29th, 2009 2:32 am

subscribed

45. Stacy on January 29th, 2009 3:34 am

I love the message behind the books, that you are never alone. What a great prize package. Thanks for a great giveaway!

46. judy brittle on January 29th, 2009 6:10 am

I really thing Moonman Lovey is just so adorable!

Nana Star feels lonely and scared of the dark until Moonman Lovey reassures her that he is watching over her-even when she can't see him.

I learned Moonman Lovey is a true friend. Thank you!

47. judy brittle on January 29th, 2009 6:11 am

I'm a subscriber.

48. mindy on January 29th, 2009 11:49 am i like that the dolls are nice and soft thanks for the giveaway

49. Shirley Bishop on January 29th, 2009 11:50 am

I love it that they offer some videos and songs using Sign Language.

50. Kim F. on January 29th, 2009 12:04 pm

They won Teacher's Choice award for 2009. How cool is that? I think my grand daughter would love to have a doll to go with the book. It would just make it more fun.

51. Eva Daniell on January 29th, 2009 12:17 pm

I love the nana star gift wrapped package.

I Like that they are all learning toys. from being afraid of the dark to read to me dad etc

Thank you for being part of the Bloggy giveaway. texasgirl(at)rocketmail(dot)com
52. Audra Marie on January 29th, 2009 2:17 pm

I love how sweet their faces are, and how they have great detail. :) So cute!!

adashofsassitude(at)gmail(dot)com
53. Summer on January 29th, 2009 2:28 pm

My daughters would love this! Love that the doll is poseable! summe21 at aol.com
54. Jill Myrick on January 29th, 2009 2:46 pm

I love that this line was created to bring comfort to children. And that it is approved by so many such as the Dove Foundation, Dr Toys Best Picks and the Moms Choice Award. To me they would be a great comfort to my children in the night.

Thank you so much for offering this wonderful giveaway !
55. Shilo Beedy on January 29th, 2009 3:22 pm

I find it neat that Elizabeth Owens was the real Nana Star. I also love that they have dolls that go along with the books. I also think it's neat that Moonman lovey glows when Little Twinkles cuddle him and plays a sleepy "luvaby" when they hug his tummy.

Shilo Beedy's last blog post..A Family Completed Contest #
56. Mary Jenkins on January 29th, 2009 5:11 pm

I love the hand drawn look of the illustrations! That just gives it more of a personal feeling!

quitecontrary1977@hotmail.com
57. Chantelle on January 29th, 2009 5:51 pm

i love that these books ll teach great concepts that the kids need to learn :) What a great prize! Thanks for sharing.
chantellesabino at mac dot com
58. lisa on January 29th, 2009 6:59 pm

I love all the endorsements. I feel better about any products with that many endorsement.
59. Sharla on January 29th, 2009 8:31 pm

I like that their products are made well but also very soft and cute for the kids. I always liked toys that were soft and cute. Great place!

Sharla's last blog post..If you're not a mommy you might want to turn around now... #
60. Mj on January 29th, 2009 10:05 pm

I love that they teach values.
61. Tara @ Feels like home on January 29th, 2009 10:13 pm

I love the little Moonman. We're having a little trouble getting Gracie to bed these days, and we can't get her to give up the bottle. I've been wondering if we can get her to replace it with something else. Like the Moonman, who is adorable. :)

Tara @ Feels like home's last blog post..Grace's Kitchen - We have a kitchen. Now what? #
62. Tara @ Feels like home on January 29th, 2009 10:13 pm

I subscribe. :)
63. Tara @ Feels like home on January 29th, 2009 10:17 pm

I follow you and I Tweeted. @Feelslikehome

Tara @ Feels like home's last blog post..Grace's Kitchen - We have a kitchen. Now what? #
64. Tara @ Feels like home on January 29th, 2009 10:18 pm

Your button is on my Friends of Home site.

(I'd stumble you if I could, but they suspended my account for no reason.)

Tara @ Feels like home's last blog post..Grace's Kitchen - We have a kitchen. Now what? #
65. Tara @ Feels like home on January 29th, 2009 10:18 pm

You are in my Technorati favorites. :)
Tara @ Feels like home's last blog post..Grace's Kitchen - We have a kitchen. Now what? #
66. Casey H on January 30th, 2009 12:41 am

Out of all the giveaways I've seen, this is one of the ones I'd like to win the most. This set would be so perfect for my daughter and my son. Thank you so much for the chance! Fingers crossed!!

Casey H's last blog post..Share Our Strength!!! #
67. Tara on January 30th, 2009 2:02 am

Wow these are great.. They look so soft, friendly, and wholesome for my kids..

Tara
cloudspassby78 (at) yahoo (dot) com
<http://www.weightingforperfection.blogspot.com>
68. Amanda Chapman on January 30th, 2009 6:09 am

I like the story behind how the company got its start. I like the moonman.

kamlchap(at)gmail(dot)com

69. Vickie Couturier on January 30th, 2009 6:49 am

I love the fact that the books promote traditional virtues like generosity, compassion & kindness I have 4 small grandchildren who would love to play with this at Grandmas house,thanks for the chance

70. Vickie Couturier on January 30th, 2009 6:50 am

I subscribed

71. Rebecca on January 30th, 2009 8:08 am

I love the fact that it is done by a family. stories passed down, written and illustrated within a family. LOVE that.

72. Tamara B. on January 30th, 2009 11:29 am

What I like most about this product line is it is just right for playtime, storytime, and bedtime.

tamben7996(at)aol(dot)com

73. Tamara B. on January 30th, 2009 11:30 am

I am a subscriber.

tamben7996(at)aol(dot)com

74. Christine W on January 30th, 2009 4:15 pm

I love the idea of a plush going along with a book! Thanks for the chance, justicecw@hotmail.com

75. Nicole on January 30th, 2009 5:34 pm

I'm impressed it won so many awards. Very cool!

Nicole's last blog post..Hot Coupons #

76. Beth on January 31st, 2009 1:06 am

This Grandma needs this for her little grandkids. I also think that with all the awards we can feel that this is a good product. Thanks.

77. Terra Heck on January 31st, 2009 2:34 am

I really like that the dolls come with stories. My daughter would really like this. Thanks.

78. ash on January 31st, 2009 5:23 am

I like how soft they are. They all come with cute uplifting stories

79. Cortney on January 31st, 2009 8:05 am

I like the fact these books and dolls have won so many awards.

80. Christine Jensen on January 31st, 2009 8:36 am

I LOVE the fact that there is a mistake in the text and the kids who send a letter telling them about it get to be a Little Twinkles club member! Too cute!

81. Carolyn G on January 31st, 2009 9:16 am

I love the dolls. They are adorable.

82. Carolyn G on January 31st, 2009 9:18 am

I subscribe

83. Christine on January 31st, 2009 9:31 am

I love the idea of the Little Twinkles club and that the kids can become members when they find the mistake in the book.

84. jennifer bowen on January 31st, 2009 11:52 am wow i so love them i think there really grate and well it helps the child out a lot to under stand the storey better with well a pal from the store that way when your reading the storey the child can ineract with it please enter me infor this thanks

jennifer bowen's last blog post..just geting started on some new party's and events here for the new year 1-28-09 #

85. jennifer bowen on January 31st, 2009 11:53 am

i' also got you on my feed list too

jennifer bowen's last blog post..just geting started on some new party's and events here for the new year 1-28-09 #

86. cari king on January 31st, 2009 12:52 pm

I love that it is not only a cute toy but that it also teaches a lesson as well.

87. angela on January 31st, 2009 12:56 pm

it seems like a real imagination skill builder while being fun

shopannies@Yahoo.com

88. angela on January 31st, 2009 1:01 pm

subscribed

shopannies@yahoo.com

angela's last blog post..giveaway: nana star n moon man books and toys #
89. angela on January 31st, 2009 1:04 pm

placed button on my blog
<http://shopannies.blogspot.com/>

shopannies@yahoo.com

angela's last blog post..giveaway: nana star n moon man books and toys #
90. angela on January 31st, 2009 1:05 pm

I blogged about the giveaway <http://shopannies.blogspot.com/2009/01/giveaway-nana-star-n-moon-man-books-and.html>

shopannies@yahoo.com

angela's last blog post..giveaway: nana star n moon man books and toys #
91. Noreen on January 31st, 2009 3:55 pm that a Nana create this for her grandchildren, my mom goes by nana too

Noreen's last blog post..The Things Kids Will Say #
92. Becky Grayson on January 31st, 2009 10:02 pm

I first learned about these products a couple of months ago and they really touched my heart. I am a Nana as well and after reading this part of their story "Elizabeth had a very special relationship with her grandson, Vance. Together they stood by the bedroom window at night gazing at the stars. Vance often asked his Nana, "Is the Moonman really out there?" Nana told him that the Moonman was always there for him." I cried. My favorite saying to all of my grandchildren is "I love you to the Moon and back" and we say it every chance we get. I would love to share this wonderful story with them as well. I love that the products are for any child (boy or girl) and they carry the love of Nana Star within them.

Thanks so much for the wonderful giveaway.

dbkagrayson2002 [at] gmail [dot] com
93. Becky Grayson on January 31st, 2009 10:04 pm

I just subscribed via email!
94. clenna in NH on January 31st, 2009 10:13 pm

I like the parents learning page.
95. clenna in NH on January 31st, 2009 10:14 pm

New subscriber
96. Jennifer M on January 31st, 2009 11:40 pm

I love that it makes storytime feel more interactive.
97. Alli on January 31st, 2009 11:51 pm

I love the security aspect of the idea. Secure during the day and at night.
98. LT on February 1st, 2009 12:08 am

I love that the kids can get the light on by themselves and they feel secure!
99. allie on February 1st, 2009 4:39 am i love the Moonman lovey and the fact that he glows!

100. allie on February 1st, 2009 4:40 am

i subscribe!
101. allie on February 1st, 2009 4:42 am

i follow on twitter and tweeted!
<http://twitter.com/aplotaxisamomum/status/1166550386>
102. allie on February 1st, 2009 4:42 am

i stumbled! (aplotaxisamomum)
103. allie on February 1st, 2009 4:43 am

i faved you on technorati (aplotaxisamomum)
104. Shalyse on February 1st, 2009 11:57 am

I like that there is a story to go along with each doll. That would be a lot of fun for a child to be holding their doll and reading the story about it at the same time.
105. Liz L. on February 1st, 2009 1:44 pm

My favorite thing is the artwork. I love it. The doll is just so gorgeous. Thanks for the opportunity.

lil_wifey21 at yahoo dot com

Liz L.'s last blog post..Weekly Meal Plan #
106. Sarah on February 1st, 2009 5:16 pm

I like the whole idea that there is an error somewhere in the book, for the kids to find. Once they find it and they right a letter to Nana Star, they become Twinkles.

It is a very creative idea with wonderful pictures, and even a stuffed doll to go with them.

I love it.

107. Sarah on February 1st, 2009 5:20 pm

I have blogged about the Nana Star giveaway and have linked back to your site and the Nana Star site at:

<http://ourbarnesofgrace.blogspot.com/>

Sarah's last blog post..Thrifty & Chic Mom #

108. Sarah on February 1st, 2009 5:21 pm

I am now a subscriber!

109. Sarah on February 1st, 2009 5:22 pm

I have your button on <http://ourbarnesofgrace.blogspot.com/>, in the right sidebar!

Sarah's last blog post..Thrifty & Chic Mom #

110. Sarah on February 1st, 2009 5:28 pm

I tweeted about the Nana Star and Moonman giveaway at <http://twitter.com/BarneofGrace> and I am a follower on Twitter!

Sarah's last blog post..Thrifty & Chic Mom #

111. Penelope on February 2nd, 2009 2:24 am

I love the moonman lovie! I love the way that the products are designed to be soothing and relaxing for bedtime. This would be perfect for my son! Thanks for the opportunity!

Penelope's last blog post..MyPyramid for Preschoolers #

112. Leah on February 2nd, 2009 5:23 am

I love that the Nana Star Foundation is dedicated to helping make life easier for children attending under-resourced, inner-city schools and for terminally ill children. Very commendable!

Thanks so much for this fabulous give~away! : )))

leahita[at]gmail[dot]com

113. Leah on February 2nd, 2009 5:24 am

I also subscribe! : )))

leahita[at]gmail[dot]com

114. Leah on February 2nd, 2009 5:24 am

I stumbled this give~away! : )))

<http://leahita.stumbleupon.com/>

leahita[at]gmail[dot]com

115. Leah on February 2nd, 2009 5:25 am

I faved you on technorati....user name: leahita.

leahita[at]gmail[dot]com

116. Leah on February 2nd, 2009 5:25 am

I am following you on TWITTER....username leahita.

And, I TWITTERED about this fabulous give~away.

<http://twitter.com/leahita/status/1169421309>

Thanks again! : )))

leahita[at]gmail[dot]com

117. Sarah on February 2nd, 2009 8:55 am

I love that there are books, cds and dolls. Its a complete package that uses all elements, from reading to music, and makes it come alive with the doll and glowing star. Thanks for the giveaway. My 3 year old would love this!

118. Sarah on February 2nd, 2009 8:56 am

I subscribe.

119. yabby on February 2nd, 2009 9:41 am

We really like the moon man lovey the best!
Thank you for the contest!

120. Victoria on February 2nd, 2009 10:55 am

I love the Moonman! He is so cute! It's great that he lights up so he can double as a nightlight for kids!

Victoria's last blog post..On the Mend #
121. Melissa on February 2nd, 2009 3:21 pm

I love that you have the plush to go with the stories, it helps bring them to life.
122. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:28 pm

The Nana Star line has received many awards and wonderful reviews. I like the fact that Nana Star was created to build character in youngsters. It promotes positive values in a simple and imaginative manner. I would love this for my new granddaughter! Thank you!
nanja[at]comcast[dot]net

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
123. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:29 pm

I subscribed to the feed
nanja[at]comcast[dot]net

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
124. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:43 pm

Blogged this giveaway
<http://nanja-nansplace.blogspot.com/2009/02/riding-with-no-hands.html>
nanja[at]comcast[dot]net

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
125. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:44 pm

Following on twitter(nanja46)
<http://twitter.com/nanja46/status/1171085868>
nanja[at]comcast[dot]net

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
126. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:45 pm

Your site Button is on my sidebar here
nanja[at]comcast[dot]net

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
127. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:51 pm

Stumbled this giveaway
<http://nanja46.stumbleupon.com/>

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
128. Nancy J on February 2nd, 2009 4:54 pm

Faved on Technorati
<http://technorati.com/faves/nanja>

Nancy J's last blog post..Mommies Angels: Valentines Giveaway #6 #
129. Giveaways and Contests 2/3/09 | Connie's View on February 3rd, 2009 12:36 am

[...] Nana Star Books and Plush Dolls from Riding With No Hands. Ends February [...]
130. Kimberly D. on February 3rd, 2009 2:22 am

How adorable is that?! My daughter would love this! I like the fact that it has won so many awards! Very nice! Thanks! :)
Kimberly D.'s last blog post.. #
131. Kimberly D. on February 3rd, 2009 2:23 am

I follow you! :)
Kimberly D.'s last blog post.. #
132. Kimberly D. on February 3rd, 2009 2:23 am

I also put your button on my website: <http://www.shopwithme.doodlekit.com/home/freebies>

Kimberly D.'s last blog post.. #
133. Jill W. on February 3rd, 2009 11:55 am

I love this: When children send Nana Star a note correcting the mistake, they become special members of Nana Star's Little Twinkles Club. Such a cute idea! Plus it would encourage kids to actually pay attention-adorable. I also like just how adorable all the characters are! thanks

Jill W.'s last blog post..A giveaway worth $833!!! ends 2/4 #
134. Anmarie on February 4th, 2009 10:44 am

I love that they have received so many wonderful awards, including the Teacher's Choice Award for the Family 2009. It becomes obvious to me that this is a worthwhile toy/educational experience if so many others agree!

135. Annmarie on February 4th, 2009 10:47 am

I'm a subscriber!

136. Annmarie on February 4th, 2009 10:48 am

I'm following on Twitter! (amweeks)

137. Annmarie on February 4th, 2009 10:48 am

You're in my technorati faves! (amweeks)

138. Michelle Rosborough on February 4th, 2009 6:56 pm

I like the doll

139. Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy on February 5th, 2009 12:06 am

I love the fact that they are first off not plastic! I love fabric dolls! The numerous amounts of awards they have been awarded is always a consumer/parent plus! I also see they are based in VA, we are in Virginia, I would have never known!

Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy's last blog post..Giveaways from the Heart #

140. Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy on February 5th, 2009 12:06 am

We are email subscribers!

Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy's last blog post..Giveaways from the Heart #

141. Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy on February 5th, 2009 12:06 am

Button is up!

Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy's last blog post..Giveaways from the Heart #

142. Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy on February 5th, 2009 12:08 am

Blogged:

<http://www.lovingheartmommy.com/2009/02/giveaways-from-heart.html>

Kristinia - Loving Heart Mommy's last blog post..Giveaways from the Heart #

143. Susan T on February 5th, 2009 1:13 pm

Loved the story of the author and how this storie came about as she was showing her grandson she was always with him after he moved. semtaylor(at)yahoo(dot)com

144. Beth on February 5th, 2009 10:23 pm

I like that along with the stories there are dolls. Their site is neat also because they also have sign language on it.

145. Lena on February 5th, 2009 11:50 pm

I loved this web-site. The story, the structure of the site, but my favorite part is the moonman. What a comforting lovey for a child.

146. ashley on February 6th, 2009 8:53 am i like the moonman lovey-it is a great concept and i know that when kids are able to read something and have a tangible, visual picture of what they've read everything seems more real to them.

147. J-Shock on February 6th, 2009 9:11 am

I love that kids have the opportunity to interact with the books through the dolls. I think this helps strengthen children's imaginations and keeps them interested in reading.

148. Safire on February 6th, 2009 3:50 pm

I love that the doll goes with the books. My daughter is always acting out her stories and this is a great way for her to do that.

Thanks!

Safire's last blog post..Teeth Pictures #

149. Jenni on February 6th, 2009 5:38 pm

I like that the book comes with a CD, too :) The iPod idea is a great one!

150. Lisa Coan on February 6th, 2009 7:41 pm

I love that it teaches virtues and I love the Moonman and that he glows.

151. Lisa Coan on February 6th, 2009 7:41 pm

I am a subscriber :)

152. Brooke on February 7th, 2009 10:24 am

These products seem so soft and lovely. And I'm a fan of any kind of toy that helps a kid to relax.

153. Stephanie on February 7th, 2009 3:25 pm

I like that the toys are very modern looking yet cuddly. My daughter would love this!

154. Ranee on February 7th, 2009 6:07 pm

I absolutely love that this line is so simple and whimsical at the same time. It's simply gorgeous. I'd rather buy something like this for my little girl than what gets pushed on her!

Ranee's last blog post..Helping Humanity & Spreading Love One Hot Soccer Dude At A Time #

155. Heather Stamper on February 7th, 2009 7:04 pm

I love that a portion of the of the nana star products go to the foundation for children. The moonman is so cute.

156. Dina on February 7th, 2009 10:36 pm

The story is beautiful: Nana Star is ready to bring the lost baby star back home where he belongs, but the world has gone to bed and she feels scared and alone. With help from a new friend, she learns that she is never alone, that the Moonman is always watching over and guiding her, even when she can't see him.

157. Dina on February 7th, 2009 10:37 pm

Fav in Technorati.

158. Leah on February 7th, 2009 11:36 pm

I love that Nana Star and her friends encourage virtues such as compassion, kindness, and generosity, etc to children.